Making Math Friends

This will be an informal (and fun!) social, featuring speed-friending within the ASU math community, free food and a swag-bag raffle giveaway!

Making math connections can be one of the most powerful activities you can do when starting, and growing, your career as a young mathematician. Building relationships within the ASU math community is incredibly helpful, no matter the stage of your math career. Tap into the relationships you build for information, advice (personal and professional), and opportunities, while sharing your own!

All are welcome. Stop by after your work/school day in WXMLR A206 at 5:00pm and join the fun!
